

As rioting mobs rampage through the streets we say:

CRACK DOWN ON CRIME!

A SUBHUMAN, masked thug stalks the streets of Welling, south London. A gang of twenty thousand masked mobsters were allowed by the Government to riot through the streets of Welling, supposedly 'protesting' about 'racism'. The Tories not only encouraged the riot to take place, but are actually subsidising the activities of left wing 'anti-racists' by paying them social security and student grants. Needless to say, it is the tax-payer who picks up the tab.

Own goal! Welling riot backfires on ANAL mob

BRITAIN is fast descending into lawless anarchy. Rapes, muggings and car thefts are a daily reality for thousands of people. Armed criminal mobs are taking to the streets, most recently in Welling, south London. Our prisons are so full that in many areas hardened criminals are repeatedly escaping with cautions for serious crimes such as burglary and car theft.

Meanwhile, the Tory Government claims it is going to 'get tough' with criminals. So what has it been doing for the previous fourteen years? Not very much.

The Tory government has repeatedly refused to obey the wishes of the British people by restoring the death penalty for child-murderers. It has legalised pornography, and now homosexual Tories want to lower the 'age of consent' for queers to sixteen, thus putting our young men at risk from perverts and encouraging the spread of AIDS.

The Government allows our TV screens to spew out disgusting pornography and the ugly jungle beat of alien 'pop' music night after night. Our children are force-fed perverted multi-racial propaganda teaching them to despise the British way of life.

No wonder our kids are growing up with no respect for authority, when they have no respect for themselves.

We will restore capital and corporal punishment to make criminals think twice about committing violent crimes; But if we are to stamp out crime, we must first teach our children PRIDE. That means pride in their country and pride in themselves. We must get rid of the left-wing and multi-racial claptrap being taught in schools, and once again teach the virtues of discipline and smartness. This Tory Government will never stamp out crime because it is led by spineless wimps. That's why we say: It's time for a British National Party Government!

No.137 NOVEMBER 1993

FORWARD TO VICTORY!

Now that the euphoria of the BNP victory in Millwall has subsided somewhat, it is time for a calm and measured reflection on what the next immediate goal of the Party will be.

The Millwall victory has put nationalism back in the 'big league' of politics, of that there can be no doubt. A flurry of opinion polls in the national press have given the BNP and its policies ratings of anything between 36 per cent and 98 per cent. Not bad for a party which only a couple of months ago was hardly known to most members of the public!

As pleasing as the result itself has been the avalanche of new membership enquiries which it has generated.

In fact, it is no exaggeration to say that the Millwall victory has created a bandwagon of support for the BNP, and one which has seriously worried the Establishment. The recent terrorist attacks and milder forms of official harassment recently experienced are proof enough of this.

But along with the new success comes greater responsibility for the Party and its activists.

After more than a decade of hard and relentless struggle, we have finally proved to the public that we can win. This is the most important psychological stumbling block which a new movement such as ours must overcome. The other barrier we must now break through is that of winning the public's trust.

In other words, when the public look at the BNP, do they see a responsible, professionally organised political party in whose hands they can feel confident in placing the destiny of Britain? This is the issue which we must now address with great urgency.

In the past, when the Party was no more than a tiny voice on the fringes of the political system, the main task was to make the public aware of our existence, and it was counted as a great breakthrough simply to generate a few lines of print in a local newspaper.

This situation is no longer.

Since Millwall, the BNP only has to sneeze to generate headlines in the national press or on television.

Clearly, the priority now is not simply to 'kick our way into the headlines' as an end in itself, but to project a responsible and mature image which accurately reflects the Party and its political objectives.

Contrary to the stereotype which the enemy media would like to attach to us, the BNP is not a street gang or a bunch of mindless hooligans, but a tightly disciplined and very courageous group of idealists who want to change Britain for the better.

Discipline has always been the strong point of the BNP compared with other nationalist movements of the past, and it creates a tremendous effect on the public.

Millwall has shown that the way forward for our movement is to win the trust and respect of the ordinary members of the public whose votes we must win in order to come to power.

We are confident that the vast majority of whites agree with everything we stand for.

Millwall has shown that once we can earn the trust of ordinary people, victory is not only possible, but certain.

JUMPING ON THE B.N.P. BANDWAGON

From Tory Churchill to Labour's Bernie Grant, the Establishment is playing the race card'

It was all very predictable. After the ritual condemnations of the British National Party by the Establishment politicians, some of them are already starting to parrot the sort of statements which they realise the British public want to hear.

First it was the Liberals, who during the Tower Hamlets campaign shamelessly played the 'race card' by pretending that they were against immigration.

BANDWAGON

After the election of Derek Beackon, when it was clear that the British people were overwhelmingly behind the BNP, Labour and Tory politicians lost no time in jumping on the bandwagon. First off the mark was Winston Churchill, who over the last few years has replaced Enid Powell as the Tories' tame 'right-winger'.

The Tories have been playing this swindle for years. The Conservative Party, which has been the main culprit responsible for mass immigration since 1945, periodically allows some 'maverick' member to condemn immigration. Just as quickly, the Prime Minister and his cabinet distance themselves from the statements, to reassure their alien backers that they are still in favour of multi-racialism.

FALSE IMPRESSION

Meanwhile, the 'maverick' has given voters the false impression that the Tories are tough on immigration.

The patriotic posturing of Churchill is particularly ironic in view of his grandfather's part in the destruction of the British Empire.

One man who caused even more of a furore than Churchill was Labour MP Bernie Grant. Few will have forgotten his comments following the Broadwater Farm race riot when PC Keith Blakelock was slaughtered by a machete-wielding mob. On that occasion, Grant said the police had received a "good hiding."

SENSIBLE

It is therefore all the more surprising that he should now come out with the sensible and moderate view which the BNP has been advocating for years: Multi-racialism has been a tragic failure, and immigrants should therefore be given financial assistance to return home.

Grant explained that repatriation would have the double benefit of ending the alienation felt by people living in a strange land, and would also benefit the third world as those returning could use the skills learned in Britain to free their own countries from reliance on Western aid.

The figure of £3,000 has been bandied about in the press as a possible figure for a resettlement grant. If this sounds excessive, it must be remembered that billions of pounds would be saved in the long term by the British Government, as unemployment would be ended.

DIFFERENCE

The only major point of difference between Bernie Grant and the British National Party is that his scheme would be entirely voluntary, whereas the BNP's policy would involve some element of compulsion. Besides which, as Bernie Grant himself has pointed out, many immigrants are so fed up with British 'racism' that they are choosing to return home of their own accord. This confirms the BNP's own view that the majority would leave Britain anyway once it became clear that a BNP government was on the cards.

BERNIE Grant: Repatriation call

TABOO

Grant quickly realised he had made a mistake by breaking the taboo

TORY Winston Churchill claims he wants to stop immigration. If that is true, why is he still in the Conservative Party? It is the Tories who have created mass immigration and are continuing to encourage it concerning repatriation, a subject which has been kept firmly off the political agenda for years. He subsequently withdrew his remarks, but by this time the cat was firmly out of the bag.

There could not be any clearer demonstration of the mood of the British people than the BNP victory in Tower Hamlets. And when the immigrants' own leaders are now talking about repatriation, then we are clearly entering a whole new ball game.

Labour's Red Ken flies out for IRA

As London blitzed by bombs, Livingstone defends fugitive terrorists in US court

IF ANYONE can be in doubt as to the pure evil of the Labour Party, they need only look to the conduct of left-wing creep Ken Livingstone.

In the midst of the IRA's latest bomb blitz in London, designed to kill innocent civilians, Livingstone has gone crawling over to America to assist a fugitive IRA terrorist in his bid to escape extradition back to Britain.

ASSASSINATING

Livingstone whined to the US court that British security forces were "assassinating members of the IRA." Of course they are, and that is precisely what they should be doing!

It may have escaped Livingstone's notice, but the IRA are themselves assassinating members of the public as well as security forces personnel. Has he forgotten the slaughter of 3-year-old Jonathan Ball and 12-year-old Tim Parry in Warrington this year?

VICTIMS

If so, then he has a very short memory. Perhaps he should also be reminded that all most three quarters of the IRA's victims have been civilians with no connection to the security forces. They include children by the score, housewives and mothers, Catholic clergy and nuns, postmen, milkmen, in fact anyone whom the IRA regard as a 'legitimate target' at a given moment.

The US court case at which Livingstone testified was also addressed by

IRA APOLOGIST Ken Livingstone

Sinn Fein official Brendan Curran.

Curran boasted of how the judge who had jailed him for eight years for conspiracy to cause an explosion was later murdered by the IRA. He added: "It is permissible in a war situation to use whatever means are necessary."

The likes of IRA apologists such as Ken Livingstone are helping the terrorists murder British women and children by generating a political climate of respectability for their actions.

Anyone who votes Labour in future should consider themselves accessories to murder.

Murderer Mandela cops £150,000 from Birmingham's ratepayers

Hypocrisy of Labour exposed as race-hate terrorist feted

RACIST murderer Nelson Mandela, who was once jailed in South Africa for his part in a series of bomb-attacks against white civilians, was made more than welcome by marxist Labour and Tory councils during his visit to Britain last month.

Birmingham's Labour council

Nelson Mandela was jailed for his part in a terrorist bombing campaign which killed children staged a spectacular junketing session for local lefties and immigrant leaders, with a budget of £150,000, described as a 'reception' by Mandela.

BANQUET

Ironically, the event was to have been an 'exclusive' banquet for local businessmen, who were asked to pay £75 per head. The council soon realised that local folk did not give two hoots for Mandela or his brand of marxism, and no-one could be found to part with their hard-earned cash for the event.

The banquet therefore suddenly became rather less 'exclusive', as the council decided to invite local lefties free of charge, and leave the ratepayers to pick up the £150,000 tab.

COMMUNISTS

A motley rent-a-mob of local communists, hippies, 'community-leaders', and other leftist riff-raff tucked in to soup, prawn cocktails, steak-au-poivre, roast duck and a choice of fine wines. The reds were of course accompanied by their Tory chums — after all, it was a free lunch!

Following the banquet, Mandela was treated to a performance of 'British' music — no, not the Birmingham Symphony Orchestra, but the Birmingham Aswad. Lucky man! Reggae band City Council has renamed one of its schools after the ANC terrorist.

ESTABLISHMENT

The money wasted on this banquet for Establishment bigwigs could have paid for up to a dozen jobless people to be given a year's employment doing something constructive. But Labour has got its priorities right — keeping its own fat-cats in the luxury to which they have become accustomed.

Birmingham was of course not the only council to offer its welcome to Mandela. The Geriatric terrorist also pitched up at Glasgow and several other venues, where he was offered the freedom of the city. Needless to say, the victims of the ANC, many of them children, were not even mentioned.

Meanwhile, in South Africa itself, Mandela's estranged wife Winnie has been freed from a six-year jail sentence for kidnapping under political pressure from the communist ANC.

Winnie Mandela celebrated with champagne, accompanied by 'comrades in arms' from the ANC.

CONVICTED

She was convicted two years ago of abducting four Soweto youths, one of whom was later murdered. The ANC runs a murder and extortion racket to raise funds for its terrorist activities, and those who fail to tow the line are usually 'necklaced' — i.e. killed by having a burning tyre placed around their necks.

Left-wingers in Britain of course don't give a damn about whites being murdered by the ANC. But as they sit tucking into their roast duck and claret, perhaps they should remember that Mandela's ANC has also slaughtered thousands of blacks as well.

Apart from being an excuse for a greedy junketing session, the Mandela visit had a much more sinister purpose in the minds of the marxists who arranged it. As part of their campaign to brainwash our children into accepting that white society is evil and wicked, the marxists use every tin-pot third world dictator and gangster as a role model for British kids. Even our schools are being named after terrorists and left-wing political agitators such as Mandela, to try and divorce our children from their own culture.

Winnie Mandela has been released from jail under political pressure after being convicted of kidnapping

Tories letting foreigners rip off Health Service

THE TORY Government is allowing foreigners to swindle millions of pounds worth of taxpayers' money from the National Health Service.

Every year thousands of overseas visitors book themselves into British hospitals for treatment, and then do a bunk without paying for it.

NOT ENTITLED

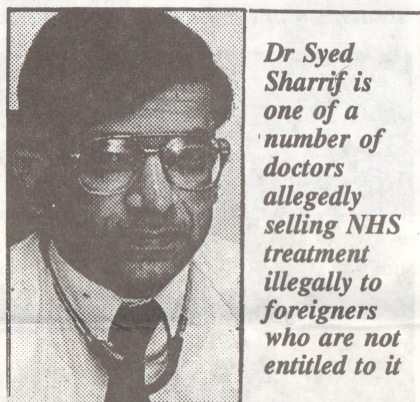

At St Mary's Hospital, Paddington, health chiefs believe at least £500,000 worth of treatment (the equivalent of 300 patients) per year is dished out to foreigners who are not entitled to it.

If this pattern is repeated in other hospitals throughout the country, it could mean the NHS is losing millions of pounds a month, and thousands of British patients are unable to get treatment because of the huge backlog being created.

DOCUMENTS

Sneaking into a British hospital is easy. The cheats simply borrow a friend's identity documents such as a driving licence, book an appointment with a GP and say they have lived in this country for more than a year. After that, it is easy to get referred for hospital treatment.

Recently at St Mary's, an African patient used a bogus passport and a false name to get a kidney transplant and dialysis treatment, then left the £75,000 hospital bill unpaid.

Dr Syed Shariff is one of a number of doctors allegedly selling NHS treatment illegally to foreigners who are not entitled to it London, posing as the niece of a Pakistani woman living in Britain. Shariff offered to refer her for a heart bypass operation worth £10,000 — for a backhand of £200.

The same reporter then visited Dr Anthony Seaton, an East Ham GP. Seaton offered an operation for a fictional brother in India, for just £300.

Is the Government worried? No. In fact, the Tories don't give a damn.

Health Minister Virginia Bottomley claimed she would be investigating the matter, but a Department of Health spokesman said: "Care of the seriously ill must take priority over securing payment."

As usual, it's a case of the Tories spouting reassuring words while doing absolutely nothing. And the 290,000 Britons on the NHS waiting list will just have to go on waiting.

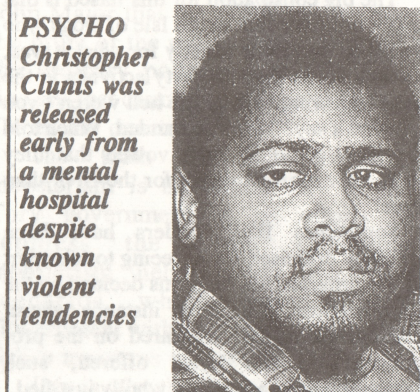

Dr Anthony Seaton offered an operation for an Indian man in return for a backhand of £300, according to a national newspaper

Another route to health care is by bribing bent doctors.

Aliens pitch up in Britain claiming to be tourists and give backhanders to crooked GPs to gain prescriptions or a referral to a hospital.

Expensive prescriptions are provided for a fraction of their real value in a racket which is said to cost the NHS twenty million pounds a year.

Recently an undercover newspaper reporter visited Dr Syed Shariff of Stoke Newington Health Centre,

PSYCHO Christopher Clunis was released early from a mental hospital despite known violent tendencies

Newspaper report says: Tower Hamlets Council DOES discriminate against homeless whites

THROUGHOUT the Millwall election campaign, one of the main issues that the British National Party forced onto the agenda was that of housing. It was the BNP's view that local white people were facing unfair (though perfectly legal) discrimination which operated in favour of alien 'refugees'.

To test whether this was in fact the case, the News of the World sent an Asian reporter to the Homeless Persons Unit run by Tower Hamlets Council. He was posing as a 'refugee' who had arrived in Britain with his family.

ASYLUM

The Asian carried only a photocopy of a bogus letter from the Home Office saying that he had applied for political asylum. The Borough Housing Officer immediately offered to put the Asian family in a hotel, with the promise of a council house later on. The man was told to provide the original of the letter as soon as possible.

In contrast, the newspaper then sent a genuinely homeless white family to the same Housing Unit. The white applicant had genuine DSS documents, but was told: "We need a driving licence or a passport and the child's birth certificate before we can help." It got worse when the Housing Officer found out that the family was from outside the Borough. The whites were told that they had "no chance" of housing and were advised to go back to the borough where they came from.

RESPONSIBILITY

The BNP does not blame Tower Hamlets Council for this situation. Officials there are simply following the law as laid down by Central Government. Responsibility for this wickedness lies squarely at the door of John Major and his gang. It is the Tories who are entirely responsible for mass immigration, homelessness and unemployment.

It is the Tories' 1985 Housing Act which forces local authorities to provide housing for 'refugees'.

There are currently 50,000 'refugees' seeking asylum in Britain. Ninety-five per cent are eventually turned down, but the process takes two years, by which time many will have found legal loopholes to stay in Britain.

Under pressure, Britain's councils cannot possibly house everyone. We do not blame the immigrants themselves. They are simply the pawns in a much more sinister game being played by those who control our country.

We sent Asian and white man to be housed by race row council. This is what happened..

THE British National Party has been in the news for its racist views. But what if it was the BNP that was the victim of racism? The News of the World sent an Asian reporter to the Homeless Persons Unit run by Tower Hamlets Council. He was posing as a 'refugee' who had arrived in Britain with his family. The Asian carried only a photocopy of a bogus letter from the Home Office saying that he had applied for political asylum. The Borough Housing Officer immediately offered to put the Asian family in a hotel, with the promise of a council house later on. The man was told to provide the original of the letter as soon as possible. In contrast, the newspaper then sent a genuinely homeless white family to the same Housing Unit. The white applicant had genuine DSS documents, but was told: "We need a driving licence or a passport and the child's birth certificate before we can help." It got worse when the Housing Officer found out that the family was from outside the Borough. The whites were told that they had "no chance" of housing and were advised to go back to the borough where they came from.

It is difficult to open a newspaper these days without seeing Cllr Derek Beackon's face! In fact, 'anti-racist' groups are becoming so scared that they have ordered the press to stop giving the BNP any more publicity.

Tower Hamlets Council did not like this full-page spread in the News of the World — in fact they are suing the paper for allegedly implying that the Council broke the law by giving immigrants priority over whites. All of which merely ensures more publicity for the BNP!

MPs shirk TV debate with Tyndall

Just what is it that they're afraid of?

VARIOUS members of parliament, invited last month to appear on a TV discussion programme with BNP leader John Tyndall and newly elected Councillor Derek Beackon, refused to do so if Mr. Tyndall was allowed to sit on the panel with them.

The programme was called After Millwall and was broadcast on BBC2 at 6.30 in the evening of Saturday, October 2nd. Its purported purpose was to discuss how 'race relations' in Britain, and particularly in London's East End, had been affected by the BNP's recent election victory in the Tower Hamlets ward on the Isle of Dogs. The party was first approached about the programme when we were telephoned by one of its producers, a Miss Eve Kay. The first format Miss Kay suggested for the programme was so ludicrous we wondered if she was really serious. This was that the participants consist of a discussion panel of two, both of these to be Asians, and a studio audience comprising various assortments of people, among them more Asians and some BNP voters. The BBC condescended from its great height of generosity to allow Messrs. Tyndall and Beackon to be part of the studio audience!

Miss Kay was told in no uncertain terms that this was in no way acceptable. If the BNP was to be the central issue under discussion, it was surely proper that its representatives appear on the panel. It seemed difficult to convince Miss Kay of the reasonableness of this condition.

The lady then came back with an alternative proposition that was acceptable to us. This was that Messrs. Tyndall and Beackon be part of the panel along with 'national politicians' (by which presumably was meant members of parliament), ethnic minority members and others. Although this would have meant the BNP spokesmen being heavily outnumbered by their opponents, we were quite prepared to take part on these terms.

REFUSAL

Others were not, however. Once again we were telephoned by Miss Kay and informed of the latest situation. This was that the 'national politicians' (MPs) had refused to sit on the panel if Mr. Tyndall was present on it. The strange excuse for this was that Mr. Tyndall did not qualify as he had not been elected to public office. We replied that this was the first time we had ever heard that a person had to be elected to public office to earn the right to appear on a TV discussion programme; almost every week at least one participant on television's best known current affairs programme, Question Time, was not an elected politician at all but represented the trade unions, business, the arts, the civil service or any one of a wide range of other areas of national life. What was perfectly clear was that these MPs, whoever they were (and here Labour man Bernie Grant and Liberal Democrat Simon Hughes were mentioned), simply did not want to face the BNP leader in open public debate on the race question or any other issue with which the party was connected.

When the BBC put to us the fact that these politicians had refused to appear with Mr. Tyndall on the panel, we said that we were surprised that the matter presented any problem. If they did not want to appear, there was nothing to oblige them to do so; Mr. Tyndall could simply appear without them — or with some other politicians who did not make such absurd conditions. The BBC did not seem to understand this commonsense suggestion. Instead of the politicians being told that the producers would not yield to blackmail and that if they wished not to appear they need not do so, the producers did in fact yield to blackmail and told Mr. Tyndall he could not, after all, be part of the panel but could join the studio audience. In view of the utter absurdity of a programme centred on the BNP consigning its leader to the studio audience, this proposition was refused. In the event, neither of the BNP men appeared in the programme, though when its presenter Nick Ross explained this he declined to be anything near fully explicit as to the reasons, merely stating that it was due to arguments about who would be on the panel and who would be in the studio audience — just what arguments the viewers were never told.

NO DEBATE

There thus took place one of TV's well-known 'debates' that are not debates at all, merely discussions of an issue in which all those allowed to take a proper part in the discussion are basically on the same side! Labour on the night was represented by Asian MP Keith Vaz, who openly and arrogantly demanded that the BNP should never be given a public voice. From the Liberal Democrats came Alex Carlisle MP, who was equally vitriolic towards us. The Tory present was Peter Bottomley, husband of the better-known Virginia, who duly presented his credentials as a loyal 'anti-racist'. As a mighty concession to the voters of Millwall Ward who elected Derek Beackon, a few of them were allowed to appear in the studio audience among what looked like a majority of Asians and other 'ethnics'. Decent people though they undoubtedly were, they were totally inexperienced in arguing their case on TV and seemed afraid of voicing their full opinions. One other white man in the audience who did seem ready to be more outspoken kept trying to say something but was constantly passed over by Mr. Ross in favour of the various professional Asian agitators present. Needless to say, the various 'ethnics' were allowed more than

THE ANAL mob screamed "kill, kill" as they attacked the people of Welling. Many of them told reporters that they intended to burn down the BNP Bookshop. Most of the ANAL mob are losers and drop-outs who secretly despise white working class people. It is no coincidence that many of them have taken to dressing like terrorists generous time to say their piece.

The big consolation for this fiasco is that many ordinary folk in the Isle of Dogs who switched on saw it exactly for what it was, as they made clear to party activists in the days following. "Why the hell weren't you allowed a say?" they demanded. When told the facts some of them vowed that they were now more strongly for the BNP than ever!

Sometimes BNP leaders have been wrongly criticised for agreeing to take part in TV programmes on terms decided by the programmers. This is an instance where, had our spokesmen appeared on the programme on the terms offered, such criticism would have been wholly justified.

This is an invitation — no it isn't!

The TV gag on BNP Chairman John Tyndall continues. At lunchtime on October 18th, the Monday after the Anti-Nazi League riot in Welling, Mr. Tyndall was contacted on the telephone by Miss Rachel Ford, of Sky Television, and asked to do an interview for a programme called Talkback, due to be shown later that day at 9.30 p.m. Mr. Tyndall agreed. There then followed a conversation in which Miss Ford asked the BNP leader a number of questions about party policy, with particular regard to repatriation of ethnic minorities.

A mere ten minutes after this telephone conversation had ended, Miss Ford was again on the 'phone to the BNP leader to inform him that due to an editorial decision the invitation to him to appear on the programme had (surprise surprise!) been withdrawn.

While we have named Miss Ford in this brief report, we do not attach any blame to her for what happened — she seemed almost embarrassed by the sudden change of policy by her superiors.

Apparently, a representative of ANAL, which caused all the trouble at Welling, will be appearing on the programme — just in the interests of balance!

We've asked it before and we ask it again: Just what are they afraid of?

TORIES IN TURMOIL AS BRITISH PEOPLE TURN TO NATIONALISM

JOHN MAJOR seems so fascinated by the idea of running the country that he's fallen asleep. Perhaps it's the excitement of the Tory conference

PEOPLE TURN TO NATIONALISM

IT WAS SUPPOSED to have been a demonstration of party unity.

But last month's Tory conference at Blackpool was a thinly-veiled punch-up between the Prime Minister, his Cabinet and the back-benchers.

The protestations of 'loyalty' sounded as empty and hollow as John Major's head, particularly after he had only recently sacked his Chancellor and rubbished his Cabinet.

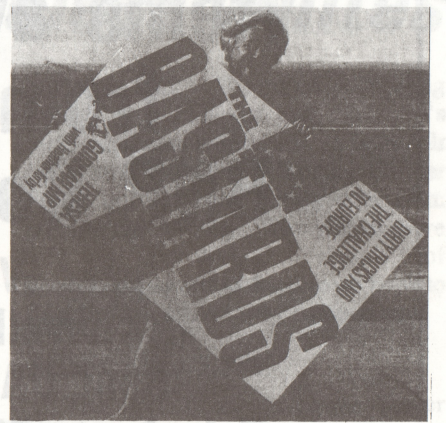

As usual, we were told that the 'green shoots of recovery' were on the way, but Kenneth Clarke warned that tax increases would be necessary to pay the interest on the fifty billion pound budget deficit.

The tub thumping speeches by the usual hang-em and flog-em 'right-wingers' convinced no-one that the Conservatives were going to get tough

Then came Sir George Young, the man who described the homeless as "people you step over when you come out of the opera." His latest crackpot scheme is to sell off more council houses, precisely the policy that landed tens of thousands of families on the streets when interest rates went through the roof.

For all their pompous speech-making and arrogant bluster, the Tories

"If the Cabinet was a racehorse I would not want to put a bet on it"
Lord Parkinson

TORY MP Teresa Gorman displays her latest book. The title refers to John Major's description of three of his cabinet colleagues public that it is more 'nationalist' than the BNP, in order to avoid complete humiliation at the local government elections in May.

After the local elections, it is probable that the Tories will ditch John Major as Prime Minister and adopt a supposedly 'patriotic' or 'right wing' figure as their new leader, along the lines of Margaret Thatcher.

Who that person will be is of course irrelevant, since the 'patriotic' stance will be totally false anyway.

The idea behind it is of course to steal the nationalist vote, just as the Tories did in 1979.

However, the situation is very different nowadays to that which existed in the late 1970s. Then, it was a lame-duck Labour administration that was in power, and the Tories could claim to be the 'opposition'.

Now, the British people have had over a decade of Tory misrule, and are unlikely to be conned again by the Tories. Since Labour is still regarded as unelectable, there is only one party that can benefit from this situation — and that is the BNP!

Labour are just a bunch of losers

Report says membership at all-time low

AS THE OFFICIAL 'Opposition' to the Tories, Labour should be doing well out of the present difficulties of the Government.

But in fact, Labour is experiencing its most profound decline since 1945, and one from which it is unlikely to recover.

OVERTAKEN

The recent victory of the BNP in Tower Hamlets shows how the majority of the white working class no longer sees Labour as the 'natural' choice. The last couple of years has seen the once solid Labour vote in Tower Hamlets steadily eroded and finally overtaken by the British National Party.

The trend is being repeated nationally, with a sharp decline in both votes and membership. Indeed, many now doubt whether Labour will ever form a government again.

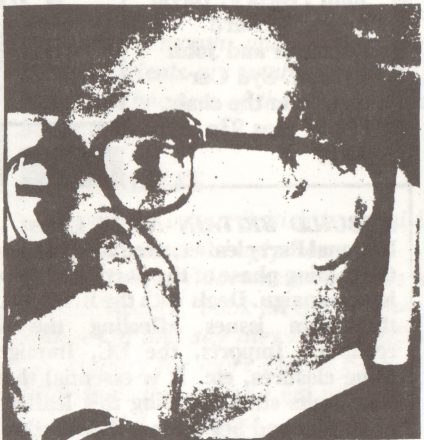

SECRET REPORT

According to a secret report compiled by its own staff, the Labour Party now has fewer than 90,000 members (compared with a million in 1952), and is rapidly becoming the preserve of white-collar 'hobby politicians' who drop out after a few years. The average new party member is a white-collar local government official or a teacher, aged around 50. Only twenty per cent of members are working class.

CRISIS

At a time when it should be successfully making capital out of the Government's dismal record, Labour is in crisis.

John Smith's apparent 'victory' over one-man-one vote merely served to drive a wedge between Labour and the trade union barons who have Even by the standards of the Labour Party, John Smith must be the most uninspiring 'leader' in political history. Under his leadership, Labour will remain unelectable traditionally bankrolled the party. If union leaders are to lose their block votes, they are likely to be less generous with finance than they were previously.

Labour's own nutty factions are hardly likely to win much support among ordinary people. The likes of Ken Livingstone, who openly sympathises with the aims of the IRA, Bernie Grant, who has his foot permanently in his mouth, not to mention the army of lesbians, queers, boiler-suited 'feminists' and other eccentrics, are a definite turn-off for ordinary voters.

HARD-SELL

In desperation, Labour is turning to American-style hard-sell techniques to win new members. Telephone selling is the latest method being tried.

But all the attempts at trendiness cannot hide the truth, that Labour and its weird policies have little relevance for most ordinary people.

"The homeless are the sort of people you step over when you come out of the opera"
Sir George Young, Housing Minister

on crime. They've already had fourteen years to combat the wave of vicious hooliganism that is plaguing this country, and have failed miserably.

Following the success of the BNP at Millwall, the Tories chose to address the issues of housing and immigration. Feeble wimp Peter Lilley claimed the Government would clamp down on 'foreign benefit scroungers'. Yet it was the Tories who let over 50,000 'refugees' into Britain last year alone.

Why Tory Government is using communist mobsters

THE TORIES have engineered two 'anti-racist' riots in London since the election victory of Councillor Derek Beackon.

The first was at Brick Lane, when an armed mob of around three hundred was allowed to set upon a small group of only a dozen BNP activists. We now know that this attack was planned by the authorities, as there were only a few token arrests of reds, all of whom were released without charge, despite huge quantities of video evidence.

WELLING RIOT

The riot at Welling some weeks later followed a similar pattern, though on a grander scale.

It appears that the Tories are trying to get the reds to do their dirty work for them, in launching violent attacks against the BNP. It matters nothing to John Major that the police are bearing the brunt of the red violence; after all, the ordinary policemen on the front line are just cannon fodder as far as the Tories are concerned.

The truth is, that left-wing mobsterism is the secret ally of the Tory government in its efforts to suppress the BNP. Left-wing mobsterism helps create the very scenarios which provide the Government with excuses for draconian police measures against the BNP.

This is why the Tories are pumping

THESE MOBSTERS are subsidised through student grants and DSS benefits millions of pounds into the 'race relations' industry which bankrolls the mobsters of the left, and encourages a climate of hatred and racial attacks against whites.

The riots at Welling and elsewhere could never have happened without the millions of pounds of Government subsidy pumped through the various 'anti-racist' groups.

The Government has set up quangos such as the Campaign for Racial 'Equality' (CRE) which themselves discriminate against whites. Other more violent groups are sponsored via local authorities, with the blessing of the Government.

It is time the public learned just how much the extreme left is being sponsored by the Government.

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

After the Millwall victory, the BNP faces new challenges and opportunities

MILLWALL was the greatest achievement, not only of the British National Party, but of any party within the nationalist movement before or since World War II.

It has put the party 'on the map' nationwide and placed the race issue right back to the top of the political agenda. The possibilities for growth and development of the BNP are now enormous and immediate. This has been reflected in the avalanche of enquiries, which have been literally in their thousands, since the election of Cllr Derek Beackon.

Millwall has put the BNP in an entirely new league of politics. This is of course very welcome, and what we have all been fighting for over a decade.

SUCCESS

But our success also brings with it some new problems. Firstly, the staffing levels of a relatively small political party are hopelessly inadequate to deal with the requirements of the mass movement which we have now become. The current BNP staff are having to deal with a vastly increased amount of work, and we would ask for your patience in the weeks ahead as they battle to get through all the mail which Millwall has generated.

Not only the general public, but also the mass media are placing considerable demands on the attention of staff.

Secondly, it has become clear that the Government has been extremely rattled by the growing support for the BNP, and is doing everything in its power to interfere with our lawful activities. This includes on the one hand, police harassment and arrest of some leading activists (including National Activities Organiser Richard Edmonds), and on the other hand the sponsoring of 'anti-racist' terrorist groups such as ANAL who have been fomenting violent disorder on the streets and petrol bomb attacks in an attempt to 'close down the BNP'. For the time being, the BNP is banned by the police from its traditional Brick Lane paper sale, and the Government has also banned the Party from displaying any posters or stickers in public. Neither of these bans of course apply to our opponents.

That is the 'bad news', which is small and temporary compared with the good news of our election result, which is tremendous and lasting. We will see the emergency through, so long as everyone is understanding and does not complain too much.

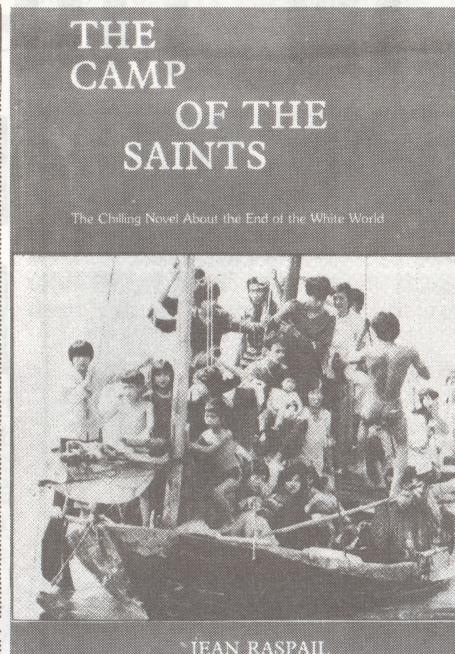

Entering the 'big league' of politics brings extra responsibilities for the Party as a whole, and for individual members and activists. Unlike previous movements, the British National Party has never compromised on policies within its programme simply to gain temporary favour through 'populism'.

PRESENTATION

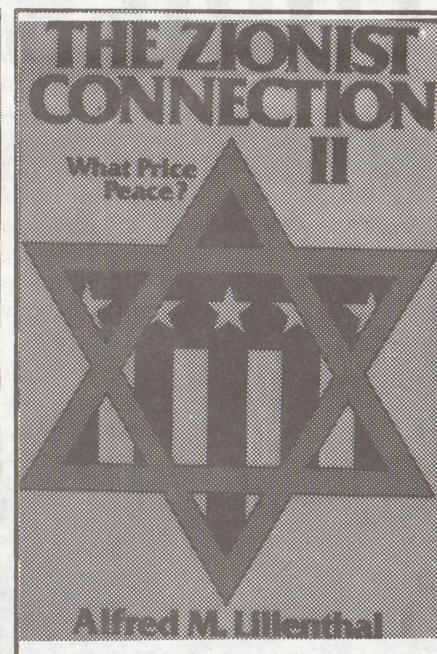

However, as far as presentation of the BNP is concerned, there is some room for improvement. Our standards of dress and behaviour must be such that the general public can feel confident in placing their trust (and votes) in our hands. The BNP is now in the mainstream of British politics, and it is up to us to keep it there if victory is to be assured.

CHURCHILL'S WAR (by David Irving). The highly controversial story of Britain's World War II leader during the late pre-war and wartime years. The writer's theme is that Churchill was the man whose war policy ruined Britain and the British Empire. £16.95 plus £2.12 p&p.

CAMP OF THE SAINTS (by Jean Raspail). This sensational novel deals with an Asian invasion of Europe by means of boat landings of millions in France. The story is an horrific picture of what could happen in the future if present 'open-door' policies continue. £5.00 plus 66p p&p.

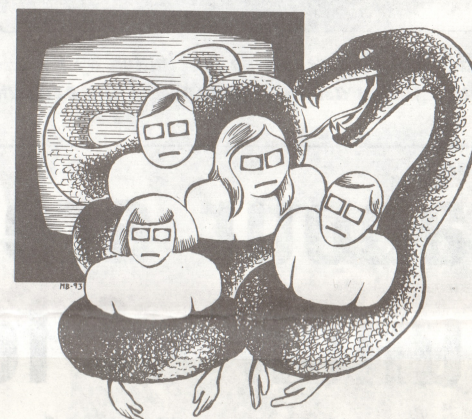

THE ZIONIST CONNECTION (by Alfred Lilienthal). A sensational and courageous exposure of Zionist power politics by a non-Zionist Jew, this book will open the eyes of many to the methods by which Zionist pressure groups operate. £13.00 plus £1.62 p&p.

NEW BOOKLET

THE ENEMY WITHIN: The latest booklet published by the British National Party, this consists of the text of a letter of complaint to the Broadcasting Complaints Commission following the Public Eye programme on the party in January. The Commission refused to consider the complaint on the ludicrous grounds that it was lodged 'out of time' (actually less than five months after the programme). The booklet, although it deals only with one specific TV programme, highlights the kind of lying and brainwashing techniques that are typical of television and the mass media generally. The Enemy Within is a good item to give out to people who sympathise with the political objectives of the BNP but believe the media smears they have heard about the party. 30p plus 18p p&p.

REBUILD BRITAIN NOW! Latest British National Party leaflet, produced to spearhead the coming phase of the party's 1993 recruiting campaign. Deals with the BNP policies on the main issues affecting the British economy: Imports, the EC, Immigration, Mine closures, etc. It is essential that BNP local units start ordering this leaflet in big quantities and begin mass-distribution of the leaflet — NOW! £4.50 per 1,000 plus postage charges of £4.10 for 1,000 and £4.65 for 2,000.

NEW LEAFLET

REBUILD BRITAIN NOW!

Only the British National Party can rebuild British industry and restore full employment.

- Only the BNP will bring in selective import controls to protect our industries — just as the Germans do.
- Only the BNP will put an end to Third World immigration, which increases the number of people competing for British jobs.
- Only the BNP will get Britain out of the European Community, which opens the door to European imports.
- Only the BNP will open more coal mines instead of closing them — the BNP will make Britain totally self-sufficient in energy production.
- Only the BNP will back British farmers and fishermen — the BNP will institute a 200-mile limit to protect our fishing fleet from the encroachments of foreign trawlers.
- Only the BNP will supply the massive investment needed to rebuild our lost manufacturing industries.

None of the old parties can provide the leadership that Britain needs. Get Britain back to work — join the BNP now!

Security Fund launched

Following the tremendous BNP election victory in Tower Hamlets, there is evidence that the opponents of the party are planning new offensives which are likely to include violent attacks on party property and on the persons of its leading representatives. Indeed, we have confidential police reports confirming this.

Some two weeks before the election, candidate Derek Beackon was attacked by three masked men in the street. Fortunately he was not badly hurt. Then a few days after the election a fire bomb was thrown at the home of BNP leader John Tyndall in Sussex. It was badly aimed and bounced off a wall into the street, with no damage done. However, we are in no doubt that these attacks will be attempted again.

In this new situation the party has decided to give top priority to the installation of a number of new security fittings at premises likely to be targets of such attacks, first and foremost the BNP Bookshop in Welling. Because delay would be unsafe, these fittings are being installed immediately, the money to pay for them coming out of normal party funds. If the party is not to run short of cash, this money must quickly be replaced.

We therefore launched last month a Security Fund with a target of £4,000. So far we have received £1,011.00 in contributions to this fund. We appeal to all readers to help us raise the remainder. This appeal is addressed particularly to our more affluent supporters who for business or other occupational reasons are not able to be in the front line of activity. We do not ask these people to put themselves in danger, only to help protect those who are.

Contributions should be marked 'BNP Security Fund' and sent to PO Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW.

YOUR LETTERS

Write to: The Editor, British Nationalist, PO Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW.

Sir: As a follow-up to the splendid election victory at Tower Hamlets we must never cease reminding the British public that, in the privacy of the polling booth, they have their only opportunity to hit back at decades of multi-racial propaganda and intimidation at the hands of the old political parties. The hysteria within the Establishment and Media following the Tower Hamlets victory signals their recognition of the fact that all their power and influence stops outside the polling booth; whilst they can and do victimise anyone publicly dissenting from the multi-racial line, they cannot force people to vote for it.

From now on our message to the British people regarding the old parties must simply be: Vote them out!

F. KIMBAL-JOHNSON
Louth, Lincs.

Sir: Whilst overjoyed with Cllr Derek Beackon's victory, I am disgusted with the biased coverage by the Establishment media. One paper referred to Derek as "a nasty little man" — which is pure propaganda. Needless to say, the old parties are doing their best to condemn the BNP. If Derek Beackon is a "nasty little man" for being truly concerned for his people's future, and taking a logical and truthful view of the present state of Britain, then I am also a "nasty little man" and proud to be one!

Despite the BNP winning the election quite lawfully, I see that the opposition has been trying to find a way to get Councillor Beackon unseated. It all reminds me of the Danish referendum on Maastricht!

NORTHERN B.N.P. UNITS IN MASS RECRUITMENT DRIVE

FROM SCOTLAND down to the English Midlands, BNP units in the North of Britain are determined to show that they too can achieve good results following the spectacular victory by their colleagues in London.

In fact, even before the victory of Councillor Beackon, Scotland and Northern England were buzzing with BNP activities.

BORDERS TOWN

Saturday September 11th saw activists from Edinburgh and Midlothian units take the BNP message in Scotland to the beautiful borders town of Galashiels.

Situated some thirty miles south of Edinburgh, the town in the past has proved fruitful selling ground and this time was to be no different.

Over twenty copies of British Nationalist were sold, and several hundred leaflets handed out.

B.N.P MESSAGE

One pleasing sign was the number of middle-aged people buying the paper as opposed to the normal purchasing groups of youth and the elderly. Clearly, an ever greater variety of British people are finding the BNP message relevant to their own situation.

After such an encouraging Day of Action, it is hoped that before too long Galashiels will be another name added to the ever growing list of units in Scotland.

BARNSELY ACTION

Meanwhile, our units in Yorkshire have not been idle. A recent activity in the Hoyland area of Barnsley yielded considerable publicity in the Barnsley Chronicle, a paper which has also carried a number of letters both supportive and critical of the BNP.

Adding to the publicity gained by the BNP itself, was the predictably hysterical reaction from the marxist Socialist 'Workers' Party, now renamed the 'Anti-Nazi League' (ANAL). It was in fact the reaction of ANAL which prompted the news report shown here, for which we owe that organisation our gratitude.

Not only ANAL, but a small group of communist school teachers from Kirk Balk School issued a statement to the Chronicle, giving the BNP further

The British National Party was given a warm welcome by local folk in Galashiels recently, where over twenty papers were sold before rain stopped play. The Party hopes to establish a new unit there soon

Recruitment drive by National Party on Hoyland estate

MEMBERS of the extreme right wing British National Party, the alleged racist and neo-Nazi organisation — have launched a recruitment drive in Hoyland.

The news adds to speculation that the British National Party is planning to field a candidate in next year's Barnsley council elections.

They are using scare-mongering tactics and are trying to blame the minority groups for all the ills and problems that South Yorkshire seems to suffer from.

We were, however, very pleased with the response we got from our visits to the Cloughfields Estate and we found that the majority of the people who

"We were disgusted to learn that the BNP have been leafletting the Cloughfields Estate," said the joint statement from the teaching unions NUT and NAS/UIT.

"We are further horrified at reports that the party intends to stand a candidate at the next election in Barnsley."

"We are proud that teaching unions have consistently taken a firm stand

The BNP's activities in Barnsley yielded this headline in the local paper. The local paper has also carried a number of letters for or against the BNP publicity. The arrogant 'anti-racists' demanded that the local authority should refuse to allow the Party any meetings. They also demanded that the police should stop the BNP's activities.

But a South Yorkshire police spokesman replied: "The police service is not a political organisation and we can only get involved if any laws are broken." Well said!

BNP campaigns against mosque in Notts Village

THE VILLAGE of Flintham, Notts, was stunned and horrified last year to learn that an Islamic school for two hundred muslims was to be built right next to the village green.

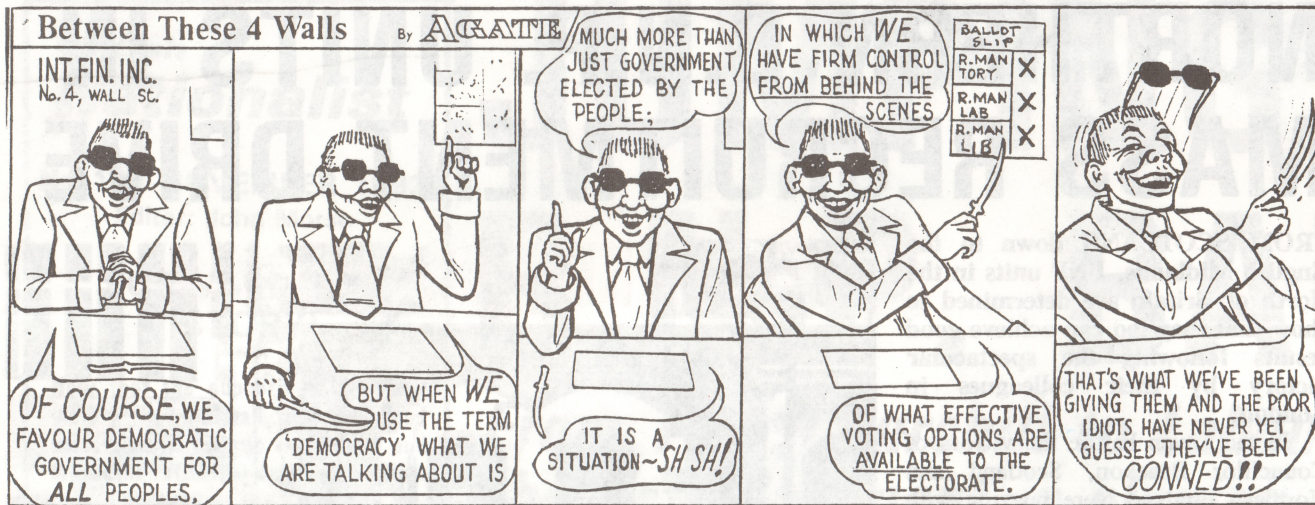

The British National Party (left) immediately joined in their campaign to try to get the school stopped. One year later, the local council has now announced that the school is to be for two THOUSAND pupils, complete with its own mosque.

Clearly the Tory Government is trying to disperse immigrants into every town and village, and those whites who fled to the countryside thinking they could escape from it are sadly deluded.

But the BNP will fight on, and do everything in its power to resist the Government's wicked plans. The Party has already staged a number of days of action in Flintham and surrounding villages, which have been warmly welcomed by local folk who are in despair over the Tory council's plans for the village.

The BNP also has units in Hounslow & Staines, Redbridge, Barking & Dagenham, Southend-on-Sea, Isle of Sheppey, Reading, Gloucestershire, Bristol & Bath, Bournemouth, Stevenage, Enfield & South Herts., Bedford, Stourbridge, Coventry, Grantham, Ilkeston, North Wales, Bolton & Bury, Batley, Hull, York, Skipton, Tees-side, Sunderland, Stirling & Alloa, Fife, Cumbernauld, Greenock, Lanarkshire, Ayr, Cumnock (Ayrshire), Inverness and Belfast. If you want to make contact with any of these units, or start a new unit, please write to BNP Head Office at PO Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW.

How ANAL helped the BNP win Millwall...

Local anger at extreme left's illegal smear leaflets left helped drive voters to BNP

THE SOCIALIST 'Workers' Party, now calling itself ANAL, ran an article in their paper the week before the Millwall by-election entitled 'Out to Oppose the Nazis'.

The article boasted of ANAL's illegal smear campaign against the BNP in Millwall, claiming that every home had been leafleted 'warning against the nazis'. The article finished with an advertisement for a 'major rally' in Millwall park which in the event was attended by less than a hundred people, only twenty of them local.

D.P.P. INFORMED

The campaign by ANAL was illegal because all election leaflets must appear on the list of expenses of a particular candidate. The BNP has therefore sent files to the Director of Public Prosecutions detailing the activities of ANAL. Of course, whether any prosecutions will ensue from the Tory DPP is highly unlikely!

THE LOSERS OF ANAL

Genuine eastenders living on the Isle of Dogs recognised these communists as outsiders and losers — and simply ignored them. Regarding the smear leaflets, one group of eastenders told BNP canvassers: "These commies must be mad if they think we believe this rubbish" (except a stronger word than 'rubbish' was actually used!).

The evidence is that ANAL's activities actually helped the BNP, by giving the Party more publicity. Local folk were so disgusted by the poisonous propaganda of the reds that they became all the more determined to vote BNP. The ANAL criminals have laboured in vain. Derek Beackon is to be praised for his stand for our race and nation. Well done Cllr Beackon!

As a postscript, it is worth mentioning a couple of quotes from our enemies before the historic election. In May 1992, Labour's Tribune paper stated: "The BNP... is ill-equipped to make any sort of political breakthrough." The following October, the BNP scored twenty per cent of the vote in Millwall. Millwall's then Labour councillor Ted Johns commented: "It is a protest vote... it will evaporate at the next election."

Far from evaporating, the BNP's vote actually DOUBLED at the election only eleven months later.

In other words, over the past eighteen months, the BNP's share of the vote in Millwall has risen from three per cent, to twenty per cent, and finally thirty four per cent.

Hardly the 'downward spiral' predicted by our enemies!

BNP could win its first council seat in the country!

The first ever British National Party councillor in the UK could be elected in Millwall next week.

The extreme right-wing party is in the running to win next Thursday's council by-election, reveals a secret Labour Party canvasser.

But the canvasser statistics showing the BNP with 34 per cent of the vote have been dismissed as "fiction" by the Liberal Democrats.

The BNP is said to have sent out 20-30 supporters each night to campaign on the Isle of Dogs for the seat made vacant by the resignation of Labour councillor David Chapman.

The right-wing extremist party gained its best ever election result when it polled 20 per cent of the vote in a Millwall by-election last October. Yesterday Lib Dem campaign manager

BY DAVE KEEN

Cllr Stewart Rayment said: "I am not trying to talk up the BNP vote because they think it will damage us. It is a pretty shabby tactic."

He said his own party's canvasser returns show the BNP vote standing around 10 per cent, with the Lib Dems slightly ahead of Labour.

FIGURES

But Labour's figures reveal that on September 4 Labour had 59 per cent of the vote, the BNP 34 per cent, the Lib Dems 24 per cent and the Conservatives three per cent.

Labour leader Cllr John Biggs said: "Cllr Rayment is living in a fantasy land, trying to overstate his party's poor campaign."

"A vote for the Liberal Democrats could let in the BNP which would be a disaster," he added.

In the leaked canvasser report, Labour's election agent Stephen Molyneux writes: "Evidently the 20 per cent that the BNP got last year means that many voters no longer see voting BNP as a wasted vote."

"There is the outside chance of the first BNP councillor in Britain being elected on the back of the racist protest vote which is being mobilised on the housing issue," he added.

And he even suggests Labour supporters should stop attacking the Lib Dems to "create the illusion the Liberal Democrats are the real threat in this campaign."

Campaigners plan to stage banned anti-racist meeting

ANTI-RACISM campaigners still plan to go ahead with a rally on the Isle of Dogs this Saturday despite not gaining permission from the neighbourhood.

Whitechapel-born Leon Greenman, who survived Auschwitz and Buchenwald concentration camps, will speak at the Island Against the Nazis meeting at Millwall Park.

Anti-racist campaigners claim they were attacked by a mob of right-wing extremists in Westferry Road on Saturday afternoon.

The week before the Millwall election, the East London Advertiser carried an article in which the Liberal Democrats' Stewart Rayment made the ludicrous claim that the BNP would get only ten per cent of the vote!

British National Party ANNUAL RALLY LONDON

Saturday, November 6th
In the afternoon

Speakers will include:-

DAVID BRUCE

RICHARD EDMONDS

(If released from police custody)

CLAUDE CORNILLEAU (France)

Mr. X (U.S.A.)

JOHN TYNDALL

Assemble: Underground Station

Baker Street, W.1

12 noon

From the assembly point given above, those wishing to attend will be taken to the location of the rally, which for security reasons is not being disclosed here. All BNP members who can do so are advised to travel in parties with their branches and regions. For details, they should contact their local organisers.

What we stand for

- The establishment of a government of national unity that will put an end to nationally divisive party warfare; the return of leadership and statesmanship to British affairs.
- An end to immigration and a start to repatriation.
- British withdrawal from the Common Market
- The disbanding of the multi-racial Commonwealth and its replacement by a new Commonwealth of self-governing white states.
- British ownership and control of British industry and resources.
- Protection of British industry by the selective exclusion of foreign manufactured goods from the British market.
- An end to the financial swindle that causes inflation and slump, and its replacement by a sane and fair financial system that will give the people the purchasing power to buy the goods they produce.
- The subordination of the power of the City to the power of government, and the harnessing of the City to the needs of British industry.
- The regeneration of British farming, with the object of achieving the maximum possible self-sufficiency in food production.
- Rejection of both the poll tax and its substitute, the new 'property tax', and a return to the old rates system, though with fairer rebates allowing for differences in income and in the numbers occupying properties.
- A healthy environment for a healthy people — the protection of our countryside and an end to the architectural disfigurement of our towns and cities.
- Tougher treatment of criminals, including the return of the death penalty.
- A return to traditional methods of education, with stronger discipline in the classroom and the sacking of 'trendy' teachers.
- An alternative defence strategy: withdrawal from NATO, closure of all foreign military and air bases in Britain, the strengthening of Britain's defences and a position of armed neutrality.
- An end to overseas aid and the allocation of the money saved to the financing of repatriation and greater help for the needy at home.
- The crushing of the IRA, the termination of the Anglo-Irish Agreement and firm support for the loyalist majority in Northern Ireland.
- Repeal of the laws permitting homosexuality and abortion (except where the latter is the result of rape or necessary on medical grounds), the wiping out of AIDS and a return to healthy moral values aimed at strengthening the family and community.
